

Dear Applicant,

Thank you for your interest in using the Adventist Archives, part of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. We're excited that you would like to conduct research here—it's part of our mission to tell the Adventist story innovatively and truthfully through accurate and in-depth research, and so we are delighted to welcome researchers.

Please carefully read the materials in this application, especially the code of conduct on page three and the rules and policies on page four, before submitting the application to us. Also, please note that:

We do not typically admit undergraduate students. However, if you are a Bachelor's-level student and your research project requires use of the archives which cannot be satisfied with research in the online archives (located at documents.adventistarchives.org), then please send us an additional brief description of your project and a letter from your professor.

If you are a graduate or doctoral student, please enclose a letter of reference from your history professor, dissertation adviser, or other relevant person (or have them email the letter separately) in addition to this application.

If you are employed by a post-secondary educational institution or by a Seventh-day Adventist church organization, you will need to return only this application to us.

If you are not employed by a post-secondary educational institution or by a Seventh-day Adventist church organization, please enclose a letter of reference from an official of an Adventist conference, mission, union, division, or educational institution (or have them email the letter separately).

Complete this application and return it (preferably in PDF), with a filename indicating your name and the date sent, to centrohistorico@uap.edu.ar or to centrowhite@uap.edu.ar. The mailing address is Sarmiento 375, (3103) Libertador San Martín, Entre Ríos, Argentina.

Thank you, and happy researching!

The Adventist Archives Team

I have carefully read this page and understand it.

Researcher Code of Conduct

As a researcher, I

- will abide by the rules and policies of the Adventist Archives' Research Center.
- acknowledge that all copyrights and other intellectual and ownership rights of any documents or materials viewed, copied, duplicated, or photographed, are owned exclusively by the Adventist Historic Center (Centro Histórico Adventista).
- agree only to examine documents or materials in a designated research area and to use care in reviewing them.
- agree not to take, damage, destroy or amend any documents or materials.
- agree NOT to quote, copy, duplicate, or distribute any materials owned by the Adventist Historic Center without written permission from its Director; and to provide the Director with copies of all digital images of documents that I photograph.
- agree to provide the Director of Archives, Statistics, and Research with a summary of the study findings upon request.
- grant to the Adventist Historic Center of the Argentina Union, acting through its Office of Ellen White Research Center and Adventist Historic Center, the right to disseminate such reports or findings as necessary.
- understand that, if the Adventist Historic Center of the Argentina Union intends to disseminate the finding of my report, its Director will notify me in advance.
- will provide the Office of Adventist Historic Center one copy of any published article in which I cite or quote from documents in the archives of the Adventist Historic Center (or, if published both in print and electronically, one printed and one electronic copy); and one paper copy of any unpublished thesis or dissertation, or one printed copy of any published book, or one digital copy of any audio or visual work, in which I substantially draw on material in the said archives.

I have carefully read this code of conduct and agree to follow it.

Research Center Policies and Rules

Persons using the Research Center and accessing Archives holdings must conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the purposes and functions of the Office of Adventist Historic Center. In addition to general standards of conduct required for anyone on the premises, those using the Research Center must abide by the following:

- All copyrights and other intellectual and ownership rights of any documents or materials viewed, copied, duplicated, or photographed, are owned exclusively by the Adventist Historic Center of the Argentina Union.
- Documents or materials may only be examined in a designated research area and must not be marked, damaged, destroyed or amended in any way. Do not alter, damage or destroy any document
- Pencils are the only writing utensils that researchers can use, though you are free to use a laptop to take notes.
- Photocopies can be made for a small fee per page photocopied.
- You are free to use a digital camera to take photographs of documents or materials. However, you must supply copies of any digital images to the Archives.
- Images and reproductions of documents and materials, whether digital, photocopied or otherwise, are for your personal use. These images and reproductions of documents and materials may be quoted or cited, but may not be recopied, duplicated, or distributed, except with written permission from the Director of the Adventist Historic Center.
- You must provide the Office Adventist Historic Center with a copy of any publication or unpublished thesis or dissertation in which you substantially draw on material from the Adventist Archives.

Research Center Rules

- Place bags, cases, and backpacks in spot designated in Research Center
- Observe Ellen White Research Center hours (M to T: 10:00 a.m. to 18:00 p.m.) and Adventist Historical Center hours (M to T: 15:00 to 18:00 p.m.)
- Abstain from eating or drinking in the Research Center; there are cafeteria and restaurants in the city in front of the University.
- Turn cellular phones to vibrate mode to maintain a quiet atmosphere.
- One box at a time, one folder at a time, one page at a time.
- Ask the Research Center staff member for help in removing staples and photocopying/scanning fragile documents.
- Do not re-shelve items--let us do that!
- Do not remove any documents from the Research Center.
- Maintain a log of your photocopies and turn it in to the assistant archivist at the end of your visit. This will help you keep track of the number of copies made; remember to pay the office manager before you depart.

I will abide by the above policies and rules.
